

BPMI.ORG TO HOLD MEMBER MEETING AT DELPHI GROUP'S COLLABORATIVE COMMERCE SUMMIT

San Diego Meeting to Focus on BPML Implementations

SAN MATEO, Calif. - April 19, 2001 - The Business Process Management Initiative (BPMI.org) today announced the next member meeting will be hosted by the Delphi Group during their Collaborative Commerce Summit June 3-6 at the Del Coronado Resort in San Diego. The BPMI.org member meeting will take place on June 4-5, and will be highlighted by early applications of the Business Process Modeling Language (BPML) specification.

All BPMI.org members will receive a 50 percent discount off the regular Summit registration fee. More information about the Delphi Group Collaborative Commerce Summit may be found at www.collaborativesummit.com.

"We are very pleased with how mature the BPML specification has become since we started back in August of last year," noted Ismael Ghalimi, CEO of Intalio and initiator of BPMI.org. "With a membership of already dozens of vendors representing multiple facets of the industry, and a number of implementations on the horizon, this June meeting marks a significant milestone in the success of our organization, and the Delphi Group's Collaborative Commerce Summit is the ideal venue for such an event."

The Delphi Summit will showcase an impressive speaker list, headlined by keynote speaker Dr. Peter Drucker. Recently named the world's leading thinker by the Financial Times, Dr. Drucker will share his latest thinking on the economic, business, and organizational dynamics that are defining the landscape of competition, collaboration, and the corporation for the decades to come.

Also presenting at the Summit will be Thomas B. Leary, Commissioner, Federal Trade Commission, Thomas M. Koulopoulos, Delphi Group President and Co-Author of The X-Economy, and Jeffrey C. Shuman, Ph.D. and Janice M. Twombly, co-authors of Collaborative Communities: Partnering for Profit in the Networked Economy.
